$48 Million Plant May Be Built Near Riverville

A $48.6 million paper products plant may be constructed soon in the Riverville area of Amherst County, informed spokesmen said last week.

Zane Snead, member of the Industrial Development Committee of the Amherst County Chamber of Commerce, confirmed reports that a corporation has plans to build a plant in the Riverville area of that county. He said the development committee had been working with the corporation on the proposed project but as of last week plans had not been finalized.

Reportedly, some $48.6 million will be invested in the plant project which would be located on an estimated 1,200 acre tract near Riverville. The area is about 10 miles east of the town of Amherst and about 8 miles southwest of Gladstone in Nelson County. It is located on the James River which divides the counties of Amherst and Appomattox.

Options on the estimated 1,200-acre tract of land have

On Sunday a brief service was held at St. Anne's Episcopal Church immediately following the worship service, when the entire congregation met at their newly acquired trailer for a "Blessing of Houses" service.

One of the prayers used in the "Blessing of Houses" is as follows: "Come, O Lord, we humbly beseech Thee, and fill this house with the serenity of Thy Love and joy and peace; let Thine abundant grace and benediction be upon those who make this church home here in, that dwelling together in health in this habitation made with hands, they may themselves be evermore Thy dwelling-place, through Jesus Christ Our Lord. Amen."

"Blessing Of Houses" At St. Anne's Held Sunday

St. Anne's Episcopal Church was originally built in 1875 near Five Forks in Prince Edward County. The original building was moved to Appomattox in 1950 and was remodeled.

From 1950 until approximately one year ago the average attendance at St. Anne's was about twenty people, and then - - - about a year ago things began happening at this little church and today the average attendance has grown to about 50 per week, and it looks like St. Anne's will continue to grow.

Additional space was needed desperately, according to E. Moray Peoples, Priest at St. Anne's Episcopal Church in Appomattox, so they began looking into various possibilities of enlarging their facilities.

When the members of the church heard of a new trailer (mobile home), that had been involved in a minor accident

More Working Wives In Appomattox Co.

42.9 Per Cent Are Employed

NEW YORK - In Appomattox County, the likelihood of finding a married woman at home during the daytime is slimmer than ever.

The chances are that she is busily occupied somewhere else, holding down a job in an office, store or factory, or engaged in some professional activity.

In growing number, local women are finding it possible to fulfill their household responsibilities and still have enough free time to permit them to take outside jobs.

And that they have been doing in droves. According to the latest statistics, 42.9 percent of the married women in Appomattox County are in the labor force. This compares with 39.5 percent in 1960.

Throughout the United States as a whole, in more than 1 out of every 3 husband-wife families, the wife is employed, either part-time or full-time. Twenty years ago, by way of contrast, only 1 out of 5 had outside jobs.

Details on this female surge into the labor market, as it affects the local area and other parts of the country, come from the Department of Commerce, the labor Department and others.

Not too many years ago, the question debated was whether it was proper for a married woman to take a job, notes Sales Management.

Nowadays, it adds, the topic among liberation - minded women is whether the wages they are getting are fair.

During the past decade, married women and single women poured out of their homes and into the world of business to such an extent that they accounted for about three-fourths of the 10.8 million increase in the labor force.

What led them to do so? The impetus, in most instances, was the desire to spruce up the family bankroll so that they might live on a better scale than they could otherwise.

In Appomattox County, back in 1960, the census listed a total of 1,152 females - married and single - in the labor force. This was equal to 35.2 percent of the working age population.

It has now reached 41.6 percent, with 1,457 of them in the labor force.

Location Changed For Cancer Clinic

When Central Virginia hosts Mouth Cancer Detection Day on Sunday, February 11th, five cooperating groups will make this project possible.

Joining forces will be the American Cancer Society, the Lynchburg Dental Society, the Dental Division of the State Department of Health, the Lynchburg Dental Assistants Society and the Red Cross Club of Brookville High School.

Six Mouth Cancer Detection Centers will be located in Lynchburg, Brookville, Rustburg, and Appomattox areas. All examinations conducted at the centers will be free of charge.

In Appomattox, because of better location and facilities, the clinic will be held at the offices of Dr. S. R. Lawson and Dr. John M. Feddison on Court Street instead of at the Appomattox County Health Department as previously scheduled.

All clinics will be open on Sunday from noon until 5:00 p.m.

Although Mouth Cancer comprises three per-cent of all cancer cases, it is one of the most painful and disfiguring cancers when left undetected. However, when dected in its early stages, it is easily cured.

"We're hoping to accomplish a number of things with Mouth Cancer Dentention Day", said Dr. David T. Kiger of the Lynchburg Dental Society. "We want to make as many people as possible aware of mouth cancer and the need for early prompt treatment.

"Also, we want to promote good individual dental health habits. Hopefully, a mouth cancer exam will become a part of every routine dental health checkup".

A Mouth Cancer exam is quick, easy and painless.

Oral Cancer, although located in a highly noticeable place, is not as easy to detect as one might think. In its early stages, the stages where it is easily cured, this cancer is painless and most of the time unnoticeable to the average person. However, the trained eye of a dentist has little trouble detecting this disease.

"Even if a person gets a dental checkup the day before, we still want to see them", said Jack Russell, program director of the State Health Department's Dental Division. "We feel this is important, because instead of a general mouth exam, this person will have his mouth examined by another set of eyes looking specifily for mouth cancer".

ONE FIRE CALL LAST WEEK

The Appomattox Volunteer Fire Department has reported receiving one fire call last week.

The call came in at 5:50 a.m. on January 29th and two fire trucks manned with eleven men responded to the call. They were unable to locate the site of the fire due to incorrect directions received by the call.

If you have a fire to report, don't panic . . . give specific directions so that the volunteer men working with the fire department will know exactly where to go and can get there sooner.

Luckily this was just a chimney fire and the people living in the house controlled the fire, just the same, next time they may not be so lucky.

VISITATION GOOD AT NATIONAL PARK DURING JANUARY 1973

According to reports from the Appomattox Court House National Historical Park, visitation at the park for the month of January 1973 was 7,268 persons.

A total of 2,970 people visited the village during the month.
